THIEVES ROB PANTRY IN A MIDNIGHT RAID

Home of Mr. and Mrs. George Newton is Burglarized

WORK SYSTEMATICALLY

Care More for Eatables Apparently But Watch and Shoes are Among Booty

A gold watch and fob, a pair of shoes and a quantity of eatables constituted the booty secured by burglars in a raid at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Newton, at 215 McKean avenue Saturday night. Entrance was effected through a rear window which had been left open because of the hot weather. From evidences the thieves took their time to make the haul.

The gold watch was the property of Mrs. Newton. A pair of men's shoes was taken. The eatables consisted of four dozen eggs, a quantity of tomatoes and beans and a cake. From the systematic method in which the burglars went about the work of cleaning out the pantry they were evidentally more hungry than desirous of riches.

When the police were notified Sunday morning they hit upon the trail of a couple of members of the alleged former Monongahela "Alchohol Gang," said to be camping along the river shore near Speers. These two men were arrested on suspicion giving their names as "Beesy" Hays and "Jim" Porter. There was nothing definite on which to hold them, however. They were eating when caught and a portion of their meal consisted of eggs. There was practically no other evidence that they were the concerned persons.

Previous to the Newton robbery an attempt was made about 1 o'clock to enter a home on McKean avenue near Eleventh street. There were two in the party attempting to make entrance. Hearing someone at work, the head of the house scared them away, one fellow forgetting his coat in his haste. They are believed to have been foreigners. Chief of Police Albright is of the opinion that the two are the same ones that later entered the Newton home.

Good Game Tonight.

The game between theCatholics and the Presbyterians of the Church league this evening at the ball park, promises to be an interesting contest. If the Presbyterians win they will continue to hold first place and if the Catholics win they will tie with the Presbyterians for the lead. Both teams have been playing good ball, and the game this evening is likely to figure in the pennant race.

Seek to Have Fare Reduced

Monongahela Folks Dislike to Pay 15 Cents to Get to Finleyville

Following a recommendation by the Pennsylvania State Railroad commission on Friday that the Pittsburg Railways company reduce the fare between Becks' Run and St. Clair borough a number of patrons of Monongahela and other places it is said have taken up the matter of securing a reduction in fare between Monongahela and Finleyville. It is argued that there is a discrimination; that while the fare from Charleroi to Monongahela, a 35-minute ride, is 10 cents, the fare from Monongahela to Finleyville a 15 minute ride is 15 cents. It is claimed that the traffic is heavy to Finleyville, especially during court week, and that a reduction would be greatly to the interest of the patrons.

PROMINENT ATTORNEY IS CALLED

Death of William S. Parker Closes Remarkable Career

PROMINENT IN POLITICS

Following an illness of long duration William S. Parker, former district attorney and for more than a quarter of a century one of the best known lawyers at the county bar, died early Sunday at his home on East Wheeling street, Washington. Death was due to a general breakdown.

Mr. Parker was the son of Captain Silas and Elza Andrews Parker and was born at Amity on February 3, 1851. As a boy William S. Parker went to Washington, first securing work as a tobacconist. In the latter seventies he served as a clerk under Register of Wills William H. Underwood. Mr. Parker read law with the late James P. Sayer and was admitted to practice at the Washington county bar in March, 1882.

In 1889 Mr. Parker was elected district attorney. During his incumbency he was called upon to prosecute many notable cases, one of the best known being that of William West, a negro who was convicted of

CLAIMS CHARACTER DEFAMED; SEEKS TO RECOVER DAMAGES

Monongahela Woman Asks $10,000 as Balm for Her Injured Reputation--Says Malicious Stories Were Told

That a woman's character is her most sacred possession; that it is not a thing to be bandied about and recklessly defamed, by a man; and that it possesses a value that ranks high in a pecuniary sense, is what the county court will be called upon to decide shortly. This is the basis of a suit filed by Miss Stella Simpson of Monongahela, through her attorney, Vernon Hazzard. She claims $10,000 from Harry Goldstein, who she alleges uttered false, malicious and defamatory wordsconcerning her. The alleged statements of Goldstein are utterly vile and unprintable. In the fair plaintiff's statement the following averments are made:

"That the said Stella Simpson is a good, true, honest and virtuous inhabitant of this commonwealth and from her birth has demeaned and behaved herself and from the time of her past life until the time of the speaking and uttering the false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory words hereinafter mentioned to have been spoken, remained free and unsuspected and thesaid Stella Simpson was esteemed and reputed a person of good name, fame, credit and reputation, by reason whereof she has gained the good will, esteem and confidence of her neighbors and divers other persons of the commonwealth.

"Nevertheless, the said Harry Goldstein contriving the said Stella Simpson to deprive her good name, fame, credit, esteem and confidence aforesaid and to bring her into disrepute with her employer, one S. S. Seille, so that the said Stella Simpson lost her employment hereinafter mentioned, and to injure and utterly destroy plaintiff's character and ability to secure work that of a clerk, on or about the15th day of January,1912 at the county aforesaid, to Benjamin Freedman, J. M. Bear, Albert Greenfield, William Oppenheim, Albert Greenburg and in the presence and hearing of others did speak publish, the following false malicious, scandalous and defamatory words."

The alleged statements are of such a character that they are unprintable and on account of them the plaintiff claims $10,000 damages.

RIVAL FERRIES MAY BE STARTED AT BELLE VERNON

Closing of Bridge May Mean Case Similiar to That of Brownsville

Belle Vernon may have a parallel ferry case to that of Brownsville during the time the river bridge there is closed for repairs. Van L. Speers, who for years operated a steam ferry between Speers and Belle Vernon has already completed arrangements it is said for putting a ferry into operation, to land at Second street, Belle Vernon. In addition to this ferry it is rumored will be one operated by the Pittsburg and Lake Erie depot.

It will not be long it is asserted until the bridge will be closed to teams When the contract for repairing the structure was awarded the commissioners of Washington and Fayette counties instructed the engineers to inspect it and if they found the bridge in a too dangerous condition to close it peremptorily. At any rate it will be necessary most likely to close the bridge during the time repairs are being made.

SHADE TREES BLIGHT CAUSES DEEP CONCERN

Norway Maples and Carolina Poplars are Being Destroyed

NEW TO THIS SECTION

Tree Experts Pronounce Maple Blight to be That of Certain Kind of "Aphis"

Shade tree owners at Charleroi and other sections of Washington and other counties ae alarmed over a peculiar condition which has appeared among Norway Maples and Carolina Poplars. Many trees have died as a result of the blight, and others are dying.

Among the conditions noticed with the Norway Maples are the falling of leaves, and the presence of a peculiar sticky substance on the ground beneath the tree. Tree experts say the blight which has attacked the trees is the "Norway Maple Aphis." Another peculiar condition is a drying up of leaves of the trees.

Tiny worms have been found on the leaves of many of the Carolina Poplars. These worms have also been found on the Norway Maples.

This is the first year of the appearance of the Norway Maple blight in this section of the country and owners of trees affected are hoping it will be the last. The Aphis produces a heavy dew which drops in a sticky splash to the ground beneath. The sticky substance draws insects a hundreds are attracted to each of the trees uffering from the pest. As the most of the Norway Maples are but a year or so old in Charleroi, this condition has not been so common.

In Greensburg where the blight has been particularly severe, many residents have had their trees sprayed with a solution for the purpose of exterminating the Aphis.

Put 'Em in the Pound.

The Belle Vernon Enterprise says: "The law which forbids the owners of fowls to allow to run at large is being violated each and every day. It might be well for the owners of the straying chickens to remember that they run the risk, under the law, of having their bids killed; and if killed while trespassing there is no redress.

PECULIAR BASIS FOR A LAWSUIT

Man Has Typhoid Fever and Blames Coal Company for It

SPRING WATER IMPURE

Very unusual are the facts involved in the damage suit brought by John Miklavic and Mary Miklavic against the Pittsburg Coal company. They seek damages for money expended for medical services for the plaintiff, John Miklavcic, who was ill of typhoid fever. The illness, it is claimed, was due to drinking water from a well on the plaintiff's premises which well, it is averred, became polluted through the acts of the defendant coal company.

The plaintiffs own in Nottingham township, near Hackett, two lots of ground. It is further set forth that the coal company deposited at the rear of these lots large quantities of slate, gob and refuse from the mine. Upon this dump it is averred, there were deposited the bodies of dead

THE PASSING OF FLYNN.

Immediately after the nomination of President Taft, William Flinn, the self-appointed Republican boss of Pennsylvania, bolted the party and took himself voluntarily out of the party organization. Last week A. Nevin Detrick of Franklin county, who had been named by Boss Flinn, as secretary of the Republican organization of the party, followed Flinn in his party bolt and withdrew as an officer of the party organization.

Boss Flinn was not content with being allowed to rule the Republican party. He insisted upon ruining it. When he went to the Harrisburg con- ... an apparent ma- ... to that gath- ... allowed undisputed au- ... the party and its organization. However, when he discovered that the Pennsylvania Republicans refused to become bolters at his bidding then he immediately started in to wreck and destroy.

No organized opposition to Flinn's leadership was manifested. There was, however, distinct opposition to his arrogant bossism and the Republicans of Pennsylvania are entirely too content to have him go to any party he pleases but they are not content that he shall betray them into a bolt with which they have no sympathy.

A majority of the people in Pennsylvania are Republicans wholly because they believe firmly in the Republican policies and principles of the Republican party. They simply abhor a party traitor who feeds on selfishness.

THE NEWSPAPERS DID IT

It was the newspapers that caused Senator Lorrimer of Illinois to lose his seat in the United States Senate. Senator Lorrimer was accused of using corrupt methods and bribery in securing his election, and it was due to the exposures and information the Chicago newspapers unearthed, which resulted in his expul- earthed, which resulted in his expulsion from the United States Senate Saturday by a vote of 55 to 28.

There are many people who do not attach much importance to a newspaper as a sphere of influence. Every paper, however humble it may be, has a power that is sufficient to wield tremendous influence if it is but directed rightly, and one which no other influence can command in the same manner. This is the power of publicity. All that a newspaper has to do in any community is to print the exact truth in regard to men and measures in order to stir up the greatest commotion that is possible to attain. It is the truth that hurts, and when it is presented in its entirety, the public instinctively knows that the newspaper is right, and endorses it.

The paper that is most cordially hated is the one that tells the truth fearlessly, and it is also the one that commands the greatest degree of respect and confidence on the part of the public. Senator Lorimer thought he could ignore the newspapers, but he failed to realize the tremendous power they had in telling the truth about his methods which created a wave of public sentiment that was sufficient to sweep him out of office.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Talk about funny pictures in Puck and Judge, you see the originals everywhere if you only keep your eys open," said a young fellow who is knocking about the country in an occupation that takes him from place to place. "What makes these pictures funny is that they are true to nature, and you instinctively realize it.

"Over in one of the interior villages of the county I saw a farmer the other day who I know was taking his first ride in an automobile. He came driving into town in a six-cylinder touring car, but the motive power was the farmer's team of old peiters, which was hitched to the front axle of the car. The farmer was perched in the front seat of the car with his lines hanging over the windsheld. He was a typical specimen himself, with a straw hat, whiskers and a chew.

"Like similar pictures in Puck, the scene represented the irony of fate, how the homely old horse and the farmer has to come to the rescue of everything, from the cost of high living to a broken down touring car."

"My, but there's a lot of sheep in this county," continued the young fellow. "I didn't know so many were raised in this part of the State."

"I suppose you were interested in the shepherds and shepherdesses herding them, with their crooks in their hands, the same as you see in moving picture shows and on the comic opera stage?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes, I saw the shepherds all right, but the shepherdesses and the crooks were conspicuous by their absence. The shepherds that I saw driving sheep didn't have any crooks at all. All they had was a club and a vocabulary."

SOCIALIST TALK TO BE GIVEN ON STREET TONIGHT

Mrs. Hazlett is a university graduate was for five years editor of the "Montana News," the only labor paper between Chicago and the Coast, and possesses exceptional ability as a speaker. She took part in the great campaign in Los Angeles and according to local Socialists "comes with a new message of hope for the toilers in labor's struggles for freedom." Men and women of the working class are urged to hear her.

As a result of drains and ditches dug at the instance of the company water was caused to flow from this dump, which water found its way into the well on the plaintiffs lots. HIGH MARK ATTAINED AT THE COUNTY JAIL

The high mark for Sheriff Lutton's administration so far was reached last week when the total number in the county jail was 96. Of this number 90 are men and the other six are of the more dangerous of the species. Of the 90 men in Warden Hopkins' care six are in for murder. There is the usual large allotment of liquor law violators and the remainder are for petty effenses and those serving out court sentences.

The previous high mark since January 1, when the present administration took charge, was 92. While 96 is the largest number in during Sheriff Lutton's regime, it does not touch the record as Sheriff Murphy had at one time during his term of office considerably more than a hundred prisoners as boarders.

MINERS NOW WORKING ON DISTRICT SCALE

The final conference of the coal operators of the Pittsburg district with the wage committee of the miners is being held in Pittsburg. A scale containing an agreement relative to the matters peculiar to the district will be submitted to a special convention, which will meet in the Labor Temple tomorrow.

The general scale for the miners of all parts of the country was made at the Cleveland conference and the miners have been working under it ever since April, but a number of details relating chiefly to day labor about the mines and to "dead work" have been left undecided. When the convention has acted upon the agreement it will have the power to decide whether or not to submit its decision to a referendum vote of the miners of the district.

M'ILVAINE BIG FACTOR IN GAME WITH MONESSEN

John McIlvaine's pitching coupled with Charleroi's hard hitting and a pretty Page balloon ascension in the eighth inning won the game for the Charleroi Independents Saturday from the Page A. C. by the score of 7 to 3. McIlvaine gave the visitors but six hits and they pretty much scattered. Charleroi got 11 safe bingles off Hogg. Roll, a Canonsburg lad, Nichols of Pricedale, Cratty and Kuhn were the leading Charleroi hitters. One of the features of the game was McIlvaine's three bagger. Hogg, of Monessen besides pitching got two of his team's hits. King blistered the ball to some extent, also getting two hits.

Humphries Wins Again.

Bert Humphries, the California twirler who is pitching good ball for Cincinnati, in the National League twirled his team to victory Saturday beating Philadelphia by a 2-1 score. He gave the Phillies but four hits.

SAVING OF THE BABIES REASON FOR CAMPAIGN

Baby Saving Shows are being organized in numerous cities throughout the State. Carlisle is to have a show which will open on the 17th, Wilkes-Barre on the 22nd, Erie and Pittsburg soon after and others to follow.

This State wide movement to reduce the summer death toll among infants is being encouraged by Dr. Dixon, Commisioner of Health. The good work of the Philadelphia Baby Saving Show has aided in arousing the interest of the County Medical Societies, Public Health and Charity workers, Mothers' Clubs and Civic Organizations, all over the State in this humanitarian movement.

Infants to the number of 11,609 under two years of age died in Pennsylvania last year from cholera infantum. Eighty per cent of these deaths were during the months of June, July August, September and October. It is estimated that one-half of the deaths from this cause are preventable. The education of the mothers is the primary necessity and this is the work which the Baby Saving Shows are organized to accomplish.

A recent bulletin of the Department of Health entitled "How to Organize a Baby Saving Show" gives complete instructions for the formation of local committees, the division of the work and the raising of the necessary funds.

The State Department of Health will co-operate with any organization in town or village who will aid in this work of reducing the infant mortality. The Department will furnish Baby Saving circulars in six languages, mottoes, charts, photographs and other necessary exhibits to such committees, together with information telling how to get together interesting and instructive displays. A portion of the show must in each instance be assembled by the local workers as one of the important results is the stimulation of interest among the sociological workers in each town where a Baby Saving Show is held.

ARRANGE TO HOLD OUTING

It is reported on good authority that the business men of Monessen are contemplating holding a picnic and outing some time in the near future, the latter part of this month or the first of next. There are many business people in Monessen who cannot get away this year for a vacation, owing to the rush of business due to the building of the big blast furnaces there, and other industrial operations, and it is believed that a day's outing will serve to break the monotony for themselves and their employes. It is likely to be a big affair, for whatever Monessen undertakes to accomplish in a general way always goes through with a hurrah.

Titanic Tolstoi.

Everything in Tolstoi's character, an eminent Russian writer says, attained Titanic proportions. "As a drinker he absorbed fantastic quantities of liquor. As a gambler, he terrified his partners by the boldness of his play. As a soldier he advanced gayly to Bastion 4 the bastion of death, at Sevastopol, and there he made dying men laugh at his witty sayings. He surpassed every one by his prodigious activity in sport as well as literature."

STILL SEEK TREASURE

PEOPLE OF SCOTCH HIGHLANDS FIRM IN FAITH.

Tradition of Buried Wealth Lingers and Is Occasionally Made Stronger by Finds—Some Heavy Gold Ornaments Unearthed.

For centuries the search for ancient treasure has been pursued in the glens and wild places of the highlands of Scotland, and sometimes unexpected "finds" have been made, writes the duke of Argyll in Youth's Companion. For instance, a tradition that a treasure was hidden at Inverary had long been handed down. According to the legend, it would never be found except by a stranger. Generation after generation of children searched for it. If a badger made a hole in the hillside the children believed that the badger had the scent, and dug up his burrow; but no young or old badger ever came forth with bangles on its neck or its nose. The children watched every rabbit scrape or hen scrape to see if animal or bird had been attracted by anything shining under the sod or in the sand.

Then drainage was introduced. Formerly the glen was too wet to be cultivated, except on dry slopes where water could not gather, and a hand plow did all the necessary furrowing. But now red tiled pipes were put down to drain off water from flatter ground, and it was possible to sow in comparatively level places.

One pretty piece of grass land under a cliff was pointed out as a good bit for plowing. From the precipice above a great rock had fallen in long past ages. This had to be removed. The man at the plow tail was a stranger, an Englishman.

He put a bag of powder under the rock to blow it up. The explosion followed, the partly splintered rock heaved and fell on its side. Underneath where it had been was a gleam of the lost treasure! There were three bautiful, heavy gold braceleets, two of which had cups at their ends. The treasure had been found, and by a "stranger," as prophesied.

Those bracelets were beautifully wrought; one of them had plain ends where the wrist was slipped through. As for the pair with the hollow cups, an old tradition was recalled which declared that no person who had committed a fault could be forgiven unless the cups of gold at the gap in the bracelets were filled with his penitential tears. There is just room for the nose, like the wrist to slip in between the golden ends, and it is possible to hold the cups under the two eyes.

Sometimes ignorant men who have found such bracelets have looked on the gold as mere brass. In one case a number of bracelets found in an island of the Hebrides were used as drawer handles for an old pine chest of drawers. A peddler came to the cottage, found that the old chest had very heavy handles, and gave 15 shillings, or $3.75, for it. He took it away and sold the old handles for £20 each.

Such heavy ornaments as the bracelets must have been a burden to a Celtic beauty. For a warrior the gold was beaten out until it was thin, for then it was more portable and easily worked. Patterns of all kinds could be punched in it, so as to give a good effect in front. We can imagine how grand an old chief from Brittany or Wales or Ireland looked with a shining yellow band on his conical helmet, a broad plate of gold on his right shoulder and on his left a long yellow mantle girt in by the belt itself.

Tramp Then Wondered.

The first hobo of the spring season arrived in East Cleveland. He looked even more dejected than the first robin and shivered quite as much. And since then there have come other robins and other tramps, all wondering why they left the southland so soon, and all appearing blue and pessimistic.

One of them—a bum, not a bird—appeared at the residence of Colonel Bush the other morning. It was Sunday and the colonel himself answered the knock. The hobo took in the well-known military bearing at once and said: "Could you please help an old soldier?"

"Regular army?" asked the colonel, laconically.

"Yessir."

"Discharged?"

"No, sir; no, sir!" the hobo assured him. "I quit of me own accord! No, sir; they didn't discharge me."

And probably that tramp is wondering yet why he was kicked off the porch.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Didn't Feaze Sambo.

Sometimes the more you get a negro cornered, the less cornered you have him. This fact, long known to many, was discovered the other day by a leather man in the Swamp

This man suddenly awoke to the fact that certain back walls were dingy with dirt and decided they'd look much better if whitewashed.

So he summoned his old negro factotum and told him to get busy with his whitewash brush, giving special direction to put two coats on.

When the job apparently had been finished, the leather merchant inspected it and found the whitewash suspiciously thin looking.

Summoning Sambo, he said as sternly as he could: "You didn't go over those walls twice, as I told you to."

"No, sir," was the quick reply. "I didn't gone over twice, but I done put two coats in de pail, sir; two coats in de pail"—New York Evening Mail.

HELPFUL HINTS.

A nice little arrangement to use for a birthday cake is the cover of a candy pail. Have holes bored around the board deep enough to hold a candle, stain it any desired color and rest the cake in the center with the candles around it. Of course many more holes may be bored than needed, as the candles used need not fill each place. In this manner each member of a large family has the use of the candle board. It is safe, pretty and economical.

To loosen glass stoppers, pour a little oil around the mouth of the bottle and let it stand an hour of two; if the stopper is not loosened then, set the bottle in a dish of warm water. When hot remove and gently tap the stopper on either side and it will come out easily.

To wash chamois gloves: These gloves are serviceable, and if kept clean are the most satisfactory of gloves. When washing them, put on the hands and wash as you would your hands, rubbing on soap and rinsing all of it off, then wipe as dry as possible on a towel and leave for a few moments on the hands to dry. Pin up in an open window or hang in the air to dry. Do not lay them on a radiator or register to dry.

When you have the tough end of a steak, cut it into cubes and pour over water to cover. Add a small piece of carrot and onion and a potato or two and cook until tender. If the meat has not been previously cooked, brown it in a little hot suet.

Keep a well-corked bottle of chloroform to use in removing spots from delicate fabrics. Rub briskly and there will be no ring to mark the spot.

When a little onion juice is desired in any food, cut off a slice of unpeeled onion and press against the groove, working with a rotary motion. The juice will flow down the groove.

"AND MY WIFE, ROSIE," TOO

Bridegroom Who Had Forgotten to Register His New Better Half Quickly Makes Amends.

In spick and span raiment, carrying each a new suit case and a timid expression, they entered the Hotel Narragansett and inquired the way uneasily to the desk, says the Providence Journal.

Spying a kernel of rice on the youth's hat brim, the clerk smiled covertly, whirled the register with an encouraging flourish and placed the inked pen in the nerveless hand.

"John B—, New Bedford, Mass," wrote the youth, pushed back his hat, upset the kernel of rice and wiped his beaded brow.

"But, er—the lady?" inquired the clerk soothingly.

"She's my wife," quoth the youth, straightening up, bristling.

"She ought to be registered," advised the clerk thoughtfully.

"Ain't you put me down?" the lady murmured, looking over the youth's shoulder.

"O, sure, I—I forgot. Gimme the pen," said the youth, quickly.

Whereupon he smiled and wrote: "And my wife, Rosie."

Motoring at Its Best.

Few motorists know of motoring in all its fullness. They drive along country roads for a hundred miles or so, through towns so closely set that they virtually run through one long village, and they think they have motored. They cross the ocean and enjoy the perfect roads of France and Switzerland, and imagine they have experienced all there is in life in the motor car; but no one has ever been brought to a full realization of what motoring really is, or what the wonderful modern machine of man's creative genius is really capable of doing until they have sat in a racing car side by side with an expert driver and tasted the sport as it is under such conditions. Lord Byron once wrote: "What a delightful thing is a turnpike road, such a means of speeding the earth as scarce the eagle in the broad air can accomplish." He certainly spoke in prophecy of the motor car, and especially of the racing machine, which defies distance and shrinks space into the most tiny proportions.—The Columbian.

Game A-Plenty.

If, as an American hunter of big game has demonstrated, half-bred mastiffs possess the courage to face and fight lions, why go all the way to Africa to hunt? There are plenty of dogs at home.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

What Chalk Is.

The chalk which we use on black boards and the chalk cliffs along England's coast are the pressed together remains of tiny bodies that once lived in the sea.

THOUGHT END AT HAND

DEPUTY CORONER RECORDS THE SCARE OF HIS LIFE.

Gleaming Eyes Through the Darkness Caused Fear of Things Both Earthly and Unearthly, but In the End He Laughed.

"It was my second day at the morgue," said Albert Meyers, deputy coroner, "and I was still new in the work of taking care the dead. I had to stay at the morgue during the night, as one of my fellow workers was on a vacation.

"At about ten o'clock I retired My room was upstairs. During the day we had brought two suicides, one 'floater,' and two accident victims to the morgue, and, as is natural with a man who is not used to the work, I had a peculiar feeling all day, as I had never seen so many bodies at one time.

"Well, they are all locked in the ice box and there's no reason to be shaky," I thought to myself, and soon fell asleep.

"It was just midnight when I was suddenly awakened by something heavy full upon my legs, and remain there.

"While I slowly arose in my bed to see what it was I heard the city hall bell announcing midnight. There—at the end of my bed were two fier sparkling eyes which stared straigl at me.

"I was horror stricken. I had never believed in the stories of the superstitious, who say that at midnight the ghosts walk. Nor had I ever believed for a moment that the dead select that hour to hold their nightly conventions.

"But I was at the morgue. I knew there were five bodies down in the ice box. Unwittingly came to me the idea that one of them might have been still alive; the fear that I might have forgotten to lock the ice box added to my fright.

"Is it not possible, I thought, that if such an unfortunate person, suddenly awakened to the fact that he was to be buried alive, gathering together all his strength, might have broken out of the ice box, found the door unlocked, and, intuitively following the breath of human life, come up here, to take revenge."

"While these terrible thoughts flashed through my excited mind, the two eyes with that fierce greenish fire in them, still stared at me. I tried to yell, but could not utter a sound. I endeavored to move; it seemed as though I was paralyzed.

"Suddenly, when I was nearly insane through fear, the mysterious thing with the piercing eyes jumped up, turned around, landed on the floor; and started a furious chase around the room.

"Within another moment I was out of my bed, and not two minutes had elapsed when I held in my hand, furiously shaking him—Tom, the morgue cat!

"Cold sweat stood on my forehead, but I had to laugh.

"I have not found out yet whether the appearance in my room of the cat at midnight was a well planned joke on the part of my fellow-workers, or simply a peculiar coincidence."—Milwaukee Free Press.

Evolution of the Organ.

As such, the organ was never really invented, but has been a gradual evolution from the first single hollow reed pipe or whistle sounded by the breath of man. This was the origin of the Pan Pipes, according to the pretty legend of the infatuation of that god for the nymph Syrinx. The organ of today, according to C. Norman Kemp, delivering the Keith lecture in Edinburgh, is the largest and most complicated musical instrument, and the same might have been said in the second century B. C. of the hydraulic organ of the Romans, which probably owed to these qualities its high place in popular and royal favor. Pneumatic organs gradually came into use in the early centuries of our era, during which period they were used exclusively in places of amusement, while it is recorded that the organ was used in public worship in Spain about the middle of the fifth century, and in English churches during the seventh century At this period keys in the modern sense of the term were evidently unknown, the control of the pipes being only by means of perforated sliders, still, however, in use, though for a different purpose.

Paris Lacks Room.

The housing problem is dominating all others in Paris at the present time. There exist in Paris 61,30 families of six persons, 5,000 of ten, and 1,800 of 15 Of the former 1,097 of the second 142 and of the last 23 live in one room The average mortality from consumption for the whole of France is 1.79 per thousand, but in certain parts of the St. Merri quarter of Paris it is 9.84, while the general mortality is 42 per thousand. From 1903 to 1911 1,410 families, making a total of 6,828 children, had a death roll of 3,429—nearly half

There are numerous cases of families of eight persons living in one room which is only lighted when the door is left open A representative of the Matin has made a tour of the overcrowded areas of the city It is a sordid and repulsive tale he tells. People are sleeping in cellars In some of the rooms there are no panes in the windows, the openings being stuffed with rags. For a single room $60 a year is charged in some districts.

He Wouldn't Advertise

Breathes there a man, with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"My trade of late is getting bad,
I'll try another eight-inch ad."
If such there be, go mark him well;
For him no bank account shall swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome home the millionaire
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed.
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain,
Tread lightly friends; let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound,
Here let him live in calm repose,
Unsought except by men he owes
And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep;
Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well.
And when the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss,
And on the stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

Advertise and the world is with you!
Don't and you'll be alone.
For the world today will never pay
A Cent to the Great Unknown.

Lincoln's Superb Oratory.

In an address by Joseph H. Choate on the occasion of his eightieth birthday, Mr. Choate spoke thus of Mr. Lincoln's celebrated speech in Cooper Union, in 1860: "With an awkward form and most ungainly address, he stood there with a little trepidation, not very prepossessing; but when he came to speak it was as a flashlight. Not only his whole personality and his face lighted up, but he seemed to lighten up the audience, and for one hour or an hour and a quarter he discussed the great questions of the day and held the audience in the hollow of his hand."

THIEVES ROB PANTRY IN A MIDNIGHT RAID

Home of Mr. and Mrs. George Newton is Burglarized

WORK SYSTEMATICALLY

Care More for Eatables Apparently But Watch and Shoes are Among Booty

A gold watch and fob, a pair of shoes and a quantity of eatables constituted the booty secured by b urglars in a raid at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Newton, at 215 McKean avenue Saturday night. Entrance was effected through a rear window which had been left open because of the hot weather. From evidences the thieves took their time to make the haul.

The gold watch was the property of Mrs. Newton. A pair of men's shoes was taken. The eatables consisted of four dozen eggs, a quantity of tomatoes and beans and a cake. From the systematic method in which the burglars went about the work of cleaning out the pantry they were evidentally more hungry than desirous of riches.

When the police were notified Sunday morning they hit upon the trail of a couple of members of the alleged former Monongahela "Alchohol Gang," said to be camping along the river shore near Speers. These two men were arrested on suspicion giving their names as "Beesy" Hays and "Jim" Porter. There was nothing definite on which to hold them, however. They were eating when caught and a portion of their meal consisted of eggs. There was practically no other evidence that they were the concerned persons.

Previous to the Newton robbery an attempt was made about 1 o'clock to enter a home on McKean avenue near Eleventh street. There were two in the party attempting to make entrance. Hearing someone at work, the head of the house scared them away, one fellow forgetting his coat in his haste. They are believed to have been foreigners. Chief of Police Albright is of the opinion that the two are the same ones that later entered the Newton home.

Seek to Have Fare Reduced

Monongahela Folks Dislike to Pay 15 Cents to Get to Finleyville

Following a recommendation by the Pennsylvania State Railroad commission on Friday t hat the Pittsburg Railways company reduce the fare between Becks' Run and St. Clair borough a number of patrons of Monongahela and other places it is said have taken up the matter of securing a reduction in fare between Monongahela and Finleyville. It is argued that there is a discrimination; that while the fare from Charleroi to Monongahela, a 35-minute ride, is 10 cents, the fare from Monongahela to Finleyville a 15 minute ride is 15 cents. It is claimed that the traffic is heavy to Finleyville, especially during court week, and that a reduction would be greatly to the interest of the patrons.

PROMINENT ATTORNEY IS CALLED

Death of William S. Parker Closes Remarkable Career

PROMINENT IN POLITICS

Following an illness of long duration William S. Parker, former district attorney and for more than a quarter of a century one of the best known lawyers at the county bar, died early Sunday at his home on East Wheeling street, Washington. Death was due to a general breakdown.

Mr. Parker was the son of Captain Silas and Elza Andrews Parker and was born at Amity on February 3, 1851. As a boy William S. Parker went to Washington, first securing work as a tobacconist. In the latter seventies he served as a clerk under Register of Wills William H. Underwood. Mr. Parker read law with the late James P. Sayer and was admitted to practice at the Washington county bar in March, 1882.

In 1889 Mr. Parker was elected district attorney. During his incumbency he was called upon to prosecute many notable cases, one of the best known being that of William West, a negro who was convicted of

MEMBERS "ALCOHOL GANG" CONSPICUOUS BY THEIR QUIETNESS

Police Activity Results in Orderly Sunday--Westmoreland County Hillside Said to be Scene of Carousals

Members of Charleroi's alleged "Alcohol Gang" were conspicuous by their absence on the streets and about their usual haunts Sunday. Chief of Police C. W. Albright and his men investigated to learn the whereabout of some of the gang, but everything was quiet. This morning one or two of them was noticed about the streets, but they were orderly. This is believed to be the result of recent work of the police to rid the town of bad characters. One of the gang has started to serve a 60 day sentence in the workhouse for furnishing liquor to habitual drunkards.

Across the river from Charleroi it is stated the loose element congregated in numbers Sunday but it included few of the alleged Charleroi "Alcohol Gang." It is declared that in the corner of Westmoreland county between Belle Vernon and Monessen, scattered along theh illside and along the river, practically all day Sunday there were gangs of men carousing and gambling. There are a number of camps scattered along the river and it is claimed t hey are the haunts for the many of the loose characters of the neighborhood. Since the Monongahela "Alcohol Gang" was to some extent broken up, its members have scattered, and this section has got some of them.

The recent decision of Judge J. McIlvaine in this county that illegal clubs must discontinue their sideboard liquor has made Sunday a comparatively quiet day.

CLAIMS CHARACTER DEFAMED; SEEKS TO RECOVER DAMAGES

Monongahela Woman Asks $10,000 as Balm for Her Injured Reputation--Says Malicious Stories Were Told

That a woman's character is her most sacred possession; that it is not a thing to be bandied about and recklessly defamed, by a man; and that it possesses a value that ranks high in a pecuniary sense, is what the county court will be called upon to decide shortly. This is the basis of a suit filed by Miss Stella Simpson of Monongahela, through her attorney, Vernon Hazzard. She claims $10,000 from Harry Goldstein, who she alleges uttered false, malicious and defamatory words concerning her. The alleged statements of Goldstein are utterly vile and unprintable. In the fair plaintiff's statement the following averments are made:

"That the said Stella Simpson is a good, true, honest and virtuous inhabitant of this commonwealth and from her birth has demeaned and behaved herself and from the time of her past life until the time of the speaking and uttering the false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory words hereinafter mentioned to have been spoken, remained free and unsuspected and thesaid Stella Simpson was esteemed and reputed a person of good name, fame, credit and reputation, by reason whereof she has gained the good will, esteem and confidence of her neighbors and divers other persons of the commonwealth.

"Nevertheless, the said Harry Goldstein contriving the said Stella Simpson to deprive her good name, fame, credit, esteem and confidence aforesaid and to bring her into disrepute with her employer, one S. S. Seille, so that the said Stella Simpson lost her employment hereinafter mentioned, and to injure and utterly destroy plaintiff's character and ability to secure work that of a clerk, on or about the 15th day of January, 1912 at the county aforesaid, to Benjamin Freedman, J. M. Bear, Albert Greenfield, William Oppenheim, Albert Greenburg and in the presence and hearing of others did speak publish, the following false malicious, scandalous and defamatory words."

The alleged statements are of such a character that they are unprintable and on account of them the plaintiff claims $10,000 damages.

RIVAL FERRIES MAY BE STARTED AT BELLE VERNON

Closing of Bridge May Mean Case Similiar to That of Brownsville

Belle Vernon may have a parallel ferry case to that of Brownsville during the time the river bridge there is closed for repairs. Van L. Speers, who for years operated a steam ferry between Speers and Belle Vernon has already completed arrangements it is said for putting a ferry into operation, to land at Second street, Belle Vernon. In addition to this ferry it is rumored will be one operated by the Pittsburg and Lake Erie depot.

It will not be long it is asserted until the bridge will be closed to teams When the contract for repairing the structure was awarded the commissioners of Washington and Fayette counties instructed the engineers to inspect it and if they found the bridge in a too dangerous condition to close it peremptorily. At any rate it will be necessary most likely to close the bridge during the time repairs are being made.

SHADE TREES BLIGHT CAUSES DEEP CONCERN

Norway Maples and Carolina Poplars are Being Destroyed

NEW TO THIS SECTION

Tree Experts Pronounce Maple Blight to be That of Certain Kind of "Aphis"

Shade tree owners at Charleroi and other sections of Washington and other counties ae alarmed over a peculiar condition which has appeared among Norway Maples and Carolina Poplars. Many trees have died as a result of the blight, and others are dying.

Among the conditions noticed with the Norway Maples are the falling of leaves, and the presence of a peculiar sticky substance on the ground beneath the tree. Tree experts say the blight which has attacked the trees is the "Norway Maple Aphis." Another peculiar condition is a drying up of leaves of the trees.

Tiny worms have been found on the leaves of many of the Carolina Poplars. These worms have also been found on the Norway Maples.

This is the first year of the appearance of the Norway Maple blight in this section of the country and owners of trees affected are hoping it will be the last. The Aphis produces a heavy dew which drops in a sticky splash to the ground beneath. The sticky substance draws insects and hundreds are attracted to each of the trees uffering from the pest. As the most of the Norway Maples are but a year or so old in Charleroi, this condition has not been so common.

In Greensburg where the blight has been particularly severe, many residents have had their trees sprayed with a solution for the purpose of exterminating the Aphis.

Put 'Em in the Pound.

The Belle Vernon Enterprise says: "The law which forbids the owners of fowls to allow to run at large is being violated each and every day. It might be well for the owners of the straying chickens to remember that they run the risk under the law of having their bids killed; and if killed while trespassing there is no redress.

PECULIAR BASIS FOR A LAWSUIT

Man Has Typhoid Fever and Blames Coal Company for It

SPRING WATER IMPURE

Very unusual are the facts involved in the damage suit brought by John Miklavic and Mary Miklavic against the Pittsburg Coal company. They seek damages for money expended for medical services for the plaintiff, John Miklavcic, who was ill of typhoid fever. The illness, it is claimed, was due to drinking water from a well on the plaintiff's premises which well, it is averred, became polluted through the acts of the defendant coal company.

The plaintiffs own in Nottingham township, near Hackett, two lots of ground. It is further set forth that the coal company deposited at the rear of these lots large quantities of slate, gob and refuse from the mine. Upon this dump it is averred, there were deposited the bodies of dead

THE PASSING OF FLYNN.

Immediately after the nomination of President Taft, William Flinn, the self-appointed Republican boss of Pennsylvania, bolted the party and took himself voluntarily out of the party organization. Last week A. Nevin Detrick of Franklin county, who had been named by Boss Flinn, as secretary of the Republican organization of the party, followed Flinn in his party bolt and withdrew as an officer of the party organization.

Boss Flinn was not content with being allowed to rule the Republican party. He insisted upon ruining it. When he went to the Harrisburg convention backed by an apparent majority of the delegates to that gathering he was allowed undisputed authority over the party and its organization. However, when he discovered that the Pennsylvania Republicans refused to become bolters at his bidding then he immediately started in [illegible] and disloyalty.

No organized opposition to Flinn's leadership was manifested. There was, however, distinct opposition to his arrogant bossism and the Republicans of Pennsylvania are entirely too content to have him go to any party he pleases but they are not content that he shall betray them into [illegible] to a bolt with which they have no sympathy.

A majority of the people in Pennsylvania are Republicans wholly because they believe firmly in the Republican policies and principles of the Republican party. They simply abhor a party traitor who feeds on selfishness.

THE NEWSPAPERS DID IT

It was the newspapers that caused Senator Lorrimer of Illinois to lose his seat in the United States Senate. Senator Lorrimer was accused of using corrupt methods and bribery is securing his election, and it was due to the exposures and information the Chicago newspapers unearthed, which resulted in his expul- earthed, which resulted in his expulsion from the United States Senate Saturday by a vote of 55 to 28.

There are many people who do not attach much importance to a news- [illegible] paper, however humble it may be, has a power that is sufficient to wield tremendous influence if it is but directed rightly, and one which no other influence can command in the same manner. This is the power of publicity. All that a newspaper has to do in any community is to print the exact truth in regard to men and measures in order to stir up the greatest commotion that is possible to attain. It is the truth that hurts, and when it is presented in its entirety, the public instinctively knows that the newspaper is right, and endorses it.

The paper that is most cordially hated is the one that tells the truth fearlessly, and it is also the one that commands the greatest degree of respect and confidence on the part of the public. Senator Lorimer thought he could ignore the newspapers, but he failed to realize the tremendous power they had in telling the truth about his methods which created a wave of public sentiment that was sufficient to sweep him out of office.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Talk about funny pictures in Puck and Judge, you see the originals everywhere if you only keep your eys open," said a young fellow who is knocking about the country in an occupation that takes him from place to place. "What makes these pictures funny is that they are true to nature, and you instinctively realize it.

"Over in one of the interior villages of the county I saw a farmer the other day who I know was taking his first ride in an automobile. He came driving into town in a six-cylinder touring car, but the motive power was the farmer's team of old pelters, which was hitched to the front axle of the car. The farmer was perched in the front seat of the car with his lines hanging over the windsheld. He was a typical specimen himself, with a straw hat, whiskers and a chew.

"Like similar pictures in Puck, the scene represented the irony of fate, how the homely old horse and the farmer has to come to the rescue of everything, from the cost of high living to a broken down touring car."

"My, but there's a lot of sheep in this county," continued the young fellow. "I didn't know so many were raised in this part of the State."

"I suppose you were interested in the shepherds and shepherdesses herding them, with their crooks in their hands, the same as you see in moving picture shows and on the comic opera stage?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes, I saw the shepherds all right, but the shepherdesses and the crooks were conspicuous by their absence. The shepherds that I saw driving sheep didn't have any crooks at all. All they had was a club and a vocabulary."

HIGH MARK ATTAINED AT THE COUNTY JAIL

The high mark for Sheriff Lutton's administration so far was reached last week when the total number in the county jail was 96. Of this number 90 are men and the other six are of the more dangerous of the species. Of the 90 men in Warden Hopkins' care six are in for murder. There is the usual large allotment of liquor law violators and the remainder are for petty effenses and those serving out court sentences.

The previous high mark since January 1, when the present administration took charge, was 92. While 96 is the largest number in during Sheriff Lutton's regime, it does not touch the record as Sheriff Murphy had at one time during his term of office considerably more than a hundred prisoners as boarders.

MINERS NOW WORKING ON DISTRICT SCALE

The final conference of the coal operators of the Pittsburg district with the wage committee of the miners is being held in Pittsburg. A scale containing an agreement relative to the matters peculiar to the district will be submitted to a special convention, which will meet in the Labor Temple tomorrow.

The general scale for the miners of all parts of the country was made at the Cleveland conference and the miners have been working under it ever since April, but a number of details relating chiefly to day labor about the mines and to "dead work" have been left undecided. When the convention has acted upon the agreement it will have the power to decide whether or not to submit its decision to a referendum vote of the miners of the district.

M'ILVAINE BIG FACTOR IN GAME WITH MONESSEN

John McIlvaine's pitching coupled with Charleroi's hard hitting and a pretty Page balloon ascension in the eighth inning won the game for the Charleroi Independents Saturday from the Page A. C. by the score of 7 to 3. McIlvaine gave the visitors but six hits and they pretty much scattered. Charleroi got 11 safe bingles off Hogg. Roll, a Canonsburg lad, Nichols of Pricedale, Cratty and Kuhn were the leading Charleroi hitters. One of the features of the game was McIlvaine's three bagger. Hogg, of Monessen besides pitching got two of his team's hits. King blistered the ball to some extent, also getting two hits.

Humphries Wins Again.

Bert Humphries, the California twirler who is pitching good ball for Cincinnati, in the National League twirled his team to victory Saturday beating Philadelphia by a 2-1 score. He gave the Phillies but four hits.

SAVING OF THE BABIES REASON FOR CAMPAIGN

Baby Saving Shows are being organized in numerous cities throughout the State. Carlisle is to have a show which will open on the 17th, while those on the 22nd, 24th and 29th of this month follow one after another.

The State wide movement to reduce the summer death toll among infants is being encouraged by Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health. The good work of the Philadelphia Baby Saving Show has aided in arousing the interest of the County Medical Societies, Public Health and Charity workers, Mothers' Clubs and Civic Organizations, all over the State in this humanitarian movement.

Before the number of 77,000 under two years of age died in Pennsylvania last year from cholera infantum. Eighty per cent of these deaths were during the months of June, July August, September and October. It is estimated that one-half of the deaths from this cause are preventable. The education of the mothers is the primary necessity and this is the work which the Baby Saving Shows are organized to accomplish.

A recent bulletin of the Department of Health entitled "How to Organize a Baby Saving Show" gives complete instructions for the formation of local committees, the division of the work and the raising of the necessary funds.

The State Department of Health will co-operate with any organization in town or village who will aid in this work of reducing the infant mortality. The Department will furnish Baby Saving circulars in six languages, mottoes, charts, photographs and other necessary exhibits to such committees, together with information telling how to get together interesting and instructive displays. A portion of the show must in each instance be assembled by the local workers as one of the important results is the stimulation of interest among the sociological workers in each town where a Baby Saving Show is held.

ARRANGE TO HOLD OUTING

It is reported on good authority that the business men of Monessen are contemplating holding a picnic and outing some time in the near future, the latter part of this month or the first of next. There are many business people in Monessen who cannot get away this year for a vacation, owing to the rush of business due to the building of the big blast furnaces there, and other industrial operations, and it is believed that a day's outing will serve to break the monotony for themselves and their employes. It is likely to be a big affair, for whatever Monessen undertakes to accomplish in a general way always goes through with a bang.

STILL SEEK TREASURE

PEOPLE OF SCOTCH HIGHLANDS FIRM IN FAITH.

Tradition of Buried Wealth Lingers and Is Occasionally Made Stronger by Finds—Ancient Heavy Gold Ornaments Unearthed.

For centuries the search for ancient treasure has been pursued in the glens and wild places of the highlands of Scotland, and sometimes unexpected "finds" have been made, writes the Duke of Argyll in Youth's Companion. For instance, a tradition that a treasure was hidden, at Inverary that long been handed down. According to the legend it would never be found except by a stranger. Generation after generation of children searched for it. If a badger made a hole in the hillside the children believed that the badger had the scent, and dug up his burrow; but no young or old badger ever came forth with bangles on its neck or its nose. The children watched every rabbit scrape or hen scrape to see if animal or bird had been attracted by anything shining under the sod or in the sand.

Then drainage was introduced. Formerly the glen was too wet to be cultivated, except in dry slopes where water could not gather, and a hand plow did all the necessary furrowing. But now red tiled pipes were put down to drain off water from flatter ground, and it was possible to sow in comparatively level places.

One pretty piece of grass land under a cliff was pulled out as a good bit for plowing. From the precipice above a great rock had fallen in long past ages. This had to be removed. The man at the plow tail was a stranger, an Englishman.

He put a bag of powder under the rock to blow it up. The explosion followed, the partly splintered rock heaved and fell on its side. Underneath where it had been was a gleam of the lost treasure! There were three beautiful, heavy gold bracelets, two of which had cups at their ends. The treasure had been found, and by a "stranger," as prophesied.

Those bracelets were beautifully wrought; one of them had plain ends where the wrist was slipped through. As for the pair with the hollow cups, an old tradition was recalled which declared that no person who had committed a fault could be forgiven unless the cups of gold at the gap in the bracelets were filled with his penitential tears. There is just room for the nose, like the wrist to slip in between the golden ends, and it is possible to hold the cups under the two eyes.

Sometimes ignorant men who have found such bracelets have looked on the gold as mere brass. In one case a number of bracelets found in an island of the Hebrides were used as drawer handles for an old pine chest of drawers. A peddler came to the cottage, found that the old chest had very heavy handles, and gave 15 shillings, or $3.75, for it. He took it away and sold the old handles for £20 each.

Such heavy ornaments as the bracelets must have been a burden to a Celtic beauty. For a warrior the gold was beaten out until it was thin, for then it was more portable and easily worked. Patterns of all kinds could be punched in it, so as to give a good effect in front. We can imagine how grand an old chief from Brittany or Wales or Ireland looked with a shining yellow band on his conical helmet, a broad plate of gold on his right shoulder and on his left a long yellow mantle girt in by the belt itself.

Tramp Then Wondered.

The first hobo of the spring season arrived in East Cleveland. He looked even more dejected than the first robin and shivered quite as much. And since then there have come other robins and other tramps, all wonderful why they left the sunshine so soon, and all appearing blue and pessimistic.

One of them—a bum, not a bird—appeared at the residence of Colonel Bush the other morning. It was Sunday and the colonel himself answered the knock. The hobo took in the well-known military bearing at once and said: "Could you please help an old soldier?"

"Regular army?" asked the colonel laconically.

"Yessir."

"Discharged?"

"No, sir; no, sir!" the hobo stammered him. "I quit of me own accord! No, sir; they didn't discharge me."

And probably that tramp is wondering yet why he was kicked off the porch.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Didn't Fence Gumbo.

Sometimes the more you get a negro cornered, the less cornered you have him. This fact, long known to many, was discovered the other day by a leather man in the Swamp.

This man suddenly awoke to the fact that certain back walls were dingy with dirt and decided they'd look much better if whitewashed.

So he summoned his old negro factotum and told him to get busy with his whitewash brush, giving explicit direction to put two coats on.

When the job apparently had been finished, the leather merchant inspected it and found the whitewash suspiciously thin looking.

Summoning Gumbo, he said as sternly as he could: "You didn't go over those walls twice, as I told you to."

"No, sir," was the [illegible]

HELPFUL HINTS.

A nice little arrangement to use for a birthday cake is the cover of a candy pail. Have holes bored around the board deep enough to hold a candle, stain it any desired color and rest the cake in the center with the candles around it. Of course many more holes may be bored than needed, so the candles used need not fill each place. In this manner each member of a large family has the use of the candle board. It is safe, pretty and economical.

To loosen glass stoppers, pour a little oil around the mouth of the bottle and let it stand an hour or two; if the stopper is not loosened then, set the bottle in a dish of warm water. When hot remove and gently tap the stopper on either side and it will come out easily.

To wash chamois gloves: These gloves are serviceable, and if kept clean are the most satisfactory of gloves. When washing them, put on the hands and wash as you would your hands, rubbing on soap and rinsing all of it off, then wipe as dry as possible on a towel and leave for a few moments on the hands to dry. Put up in an open window or hang in the air to dry. Do not lay them on a radiator or register to dry.

When you have the tough end of a steak, cut it into cubes and pour over water to cover. Add a small piece of carrot and onion and a potato or two and cook until tender. If the meat has not been previously cooked, brown it in a little hot suet.

Keep a well-corked bottle of chloroform to use in removing spots from delicate fabrics. Rub briskly and there will be no ring to mark the spot.

When a little onion juice is desired in any food, cut off a slice of unpeeled onion and press against the groove, working with a rotary motion. The juice will flow down the groove.

"AND MY WIFE, ROSIE," TOO

Bridegroom Who Had Forgotten to Register His New Better Half Quickly Makes Amends.

In spick and span raiment, carrying each a new suit case and a timid expression, they entered the Hotel Nadragansett and inquired the way meekly to the desk, says the Providence Journal.

Spying a kernel of rice on the youth's hat brim, the clerk smiled covertly, whirled the register with an encouraging flourish and placed the inked pen in the nerveless hand.

"John B—, New Bedford, Mass," wrote the youth, pushed back his hat, upset the kernel of rice and wiped his beaded brow.

"But, er—the lady?" inquired the clerk soothingly.

"She's my wife," quoth the youth, straightening up, bristling.

"She ought to be registered," advised the clerk thoughtfully.

"Ain't you put me down?" the lady murmured, looking over the youth's shoulder.

"O, sure, I—I forgot. Gimme the pen," said the youth, quickly.

Whereupon he smiled and wrote: "And my wife, Rosie."

Motoring at Its Best.

Few motorists know of motoring in all its fullness. They drive along country roads for a hundred miles or so, through towns so closely set that they virtually run through one long village, and they think they have motored. They cross the ocean and enjoy the perfect roads of France and Switzerland, and imagine they have experienced all there is in life in the motor car; but no one has ever been brought to a full realization of what motoring really is, or what the wonderful modern machine of man's creative genius is really capable of doing until they have sat in a racing car side by side with an expert driver and tested the sport as it is under such conditions. Lord Byron once wrote: "What a delightful thing is a turnpike road, such a means of spoiling the earth as renders the eagle in the broad air can accomplish." He certainly spoke in prophecy of the motor car, and especially of the racing machine, which defies distance and shrinks space into the most tiny proportions.—The Columbian.

THOUGHT END AT HAND

DEPUTY CORONER RECORDS THE SCARE OF HIS LIFE.

Gleaming Eyes Through the Darkness Caught Fear of Things Both Earthly and Unearthly; but in the End He Laughed.

"It was my second day at the morgue," said Albert Mayers, deputy coroner, "and I was still new in the work of taking care the dead. I had to stay at the morgue during the night, as one of my fellow workers was on a vacation.

"At about ten o'clock I retired. My room was upstairs. During the day we had brought two suicides, one 'floater,' and two accident victims to the morgue, and, as is natural with a man who is not used to the work, I had a peculiar feeling all day, as I had never seen so many bodies at one time.

"Well, they are all locked in the ice box and there's no reason to be choky," I thought to myself, and soon was asleep.

"It was just midnight when I was suddenly awakened by something heavy fall upon my legs, and remain there.

"While I slowly awoke in my bed to see what it was I heard the city hall bell announcing midnight. There—at the end of my bed were two fiery sparkling eyes which stared straight at me.

"I was never superstitious. I had never believed in the stories of the superstitious, who say that at midnight the ghosts walk. Nor had I ever believed for a moment that the dead select that hour to hold their nightly conventions.

"But I was at the morgue. I knew there were five bodies down in the ice box. Unwittingly came to me the idea that one of them might have been still alive; the fear that I might have forgotten to lock the ice box added to my fright.

"Is it not possible, I thought, that if such an unfortunate person, suddenly awakened to the fact that he was to be buried alive, gathering together all his strength, might have broken out of the ice box, found the door unlocked, and, intuitively following the breath of human life, come up here, to take revenge."

"While these terrible thoughts dashed through my excited mind, the two eyes with that fierce greenish fire in them, still stared at me. I tried to yell, but could not utter a sound. I endeavored to move; it seemed as though I was paralyzed.

"Suddenly, when I was nearly insane through fear, the mysterious thing with the piercing eyes jumped up, turned around, landed on the floor, and started a furious chase around the room.

"Within another moment I was out of my bed, and not two minutes had elapsed when I held in my hand, furiously shaking him—Tom, the morgue cat!

"Cold sweat stood on my forehead, but I had to laugh.

"I have not found out yet whether the appearance in my room of the cat at midnight was a well planned joke on the part of my fellow-workers, or simply a peculiar coincidence."—Milwaukee Free Press.

Evolution of the Organ.

As such, the organ was never really invented, but has been a gradual evolution from the first single hollow reed pipe or whistle sounded by the breath of man. This was the origin of the Pan Pipes, according to the pretty legend of the infatuation of that god for the nymph Syrinx. The organ of today, according to C. Norman Kemp, delivering the Keith lecture in Edinburgh, is the largest and most complicated musical instrument, and the same might have been said in the second century B. C. of the hydraulic organ of the Romans, which probably owed to these qualities its high place in popular and royal favor. Pneumatic organs gradually came into use in the early centuries of our era, during which period they were used exclusively in places of amusement, while it is recorded that the organ was used in public worship in Spain about the middle of the fifth century, and in English churches during the seventh century. At this period keys in the modern sense of the term were evidently unknown, the control of the pipes being only by means of perforated sliders, still, however, in use, though for a different purpose.

Paris Lacks Room.

The housing problem is demanding all others in Paris at the present time. There exist in Paris 30,470 families of six persons, 5,000 of ten, and 1,200 of 15. Of the former 1,557, of the second 142 and of the last 23 live in one room. The average mortality from consumption for the whole of France is 1.79 per thousand, but in certain parts of the St. Merpi quarter of Paris it is 9.64, while the general mortality is 43 per thousand. From 1903 to 1911 1,410 families, making a total of 5,828 children, had a death

There are numerous cases of families of eight persons living in one room, which is only lighted when the door is left open. He Wouldn't Advertise

Breathes there a man, with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"My trade of late is getting bad,
I'll try another eight-inch ad."
If such there be, go mark him well;
For him no bank account shall swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome home the millionaire
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed.
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain,
Tread lightly friends; let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound.
Here let him live in calm repose,
Unsought except by men he owes
And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep;
Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well.
And when the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss,
And on the stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

Advertise and the world is with you!
Don't and you'll be alone.
For the world today will never pay
A Cent to the Great Unknown.

Lincoln's Superb Oratory.

In an address by Joseph H. Choate on the occasion of his eightieth birthday, Mr. Choate spoke thus of Mr. Lincoln's celebrated speech in Cooper Union, in 1860: "With an awkward form and most ungainly address, he stood there with a little trepidation, not very prepossessing; but when he came to speak it was as a flashlight. Not only his whole personality and his face lighted up, but he seemed to lighten up the audience, and for one hour or an hour and a quarter he discussed the great questions of the day and held the audience in the hollow of his hand."
